

Gender and Development (GAD) is a development approach which reflects a change in outlook which recognized the disparities women and men in all aspects/sectors of development.

Since the establishment of PCW (formerly NCRFW), it has collaborated with other agencies and launched programs and projects aimed at facilitating the integration of gender concerns in the government's programs and projects.

Though efforts have paid off into fruitful accomplishments, there are so much more to be done, the roots of gender biases run deep and the critical mass of gender sensitized/skilled partners in agencies prompts the continuous conduct of gender awareness seminars and other conscious effort to bring down the process to the grass roots level.